Summer Reading Begins!

Summer Reading begins Monday, June 12 at Noon. As a kickoff to our theme of Build a Better World, we will be looking for your help in building a igloo out of gallon milk jugs! We would greatly appreciate donations of clean, capped square milk jugs (the ones from Aldi or Meijer unfortunately won't work) so we can build a cool (pun intended) igloo!

This igloo will be large enough for people to walk into and can be used throughout the summer as an alternate reading nook, or a quiet place to relax!

We hope you can help us!

Make-and-take is in the air!

Once again, we will have Laci Holly back, this time with a make-and-take session!

When you sign up for the program, there will also be a list of oils for you to order from. You must place and pay for your order then. On the night of the program, the oils will be there for you to make and take home. This means it is VERY important that you arrive to the class.

If you pay for the oils and are unable to show up, the library staff will be unable to make and store your items for you. Also, there will be no refund if you sign up, pay and are unable to show up to the class, sorry!

COUNTDOWN TO THE ECLIPSE!

A total eclipse of the Sun, not the heart.

Did you know we are always interested in what you want to learn? Let us know! We want to schedule classes and buy materials that you want to use.

Did you know there will be a total Solar Eclipse on Monday, August 21, 2017 around 2:22 pm?

We did! To help you get ready for the eclipse, we will be having 2 special programs during summer reading to get us ready! On Thursday, June 29 at 6pm, we will be making our own UV detectors and talking about how the Moon is able to cover the Sun. Then on Thursday, July 13 at 6pm, we will be making tasty Sun diagrams out of cookies and creating a scale model of the distance between the Earth and Sun.

This will culminate in an Eclipse Observing Party on Monday, August 21, starting at 1pm. We may have special viewing items, as you can't stare directly at an eclipse.
